I'm a third year AGPM major and I am really interested in Art. I have been learning about art since half a year ago and I'm willing to draw some art through devices. I'm using procreate as my primary art app and I'm also using PS, AE. I have no experience and have no idea how to draw an art through coding but I have to learn about it since it might help me for my future jobs. And I think it would be really interesting to draw art through code. That's my effort for this class.

These three websites contain camera movement by following characters and it brings a sort of relaxation. I know how to draw some art but I have no idea how to compose all of them as an animation. And I think that is a really important thing in terms of making games. This is the feature attracting me the most and I am really interesting in learning it

Summary of your evaluation/efforts: I just joined this class so I'm still absorbing everything I need to be ready for. I know my partner pretty well and we knew each other before taking this class. This week, I'm spending most of the time preparing the stuff I need for this class, learning some basic information about how to use softwares. I haven't really talk with my partner yet but I think we cool since we know each other pretty well
